One-man Show of “A Christmas Carol” to Benefit Children Awaiting Parents

Actor Kim Tenreiro plays more than 30 characters, all from memory

Rochester, NY— On Sunday, December 8 at 2 pm, Rochester actor Kim Tenreiro will present his one-man show of Charles Dickens’ iconic holiday classic A Christmas Carol— from memory — to benefit the non-profit organization Children Awaiting Parents (CAP).

To play the more than 30 characters from Dickens’ original novella, Tenreiro has committed approximately 15,000 words to memory. In the past 11 years, this former pharmacist has given more than 100 performances, raising more than $80,000 in charitable donations for more than 60 charities.

“We are so grateful to Kim Tenreiro for choosing CAP as a recipient of the proceeds from this performance,” said CAP Executive Director Lauri McKnight. “We know that the play will resonate with the community and with our CAP families, and look forward to the show’s magic!”

Tickets are $20/family, $10/individual, and are available online at <https://bit.ly/2ojkFFl>. Any remaining tickets can be purchased at the door just prior to the show. This performance is open to the public and takes place at Comedy at the Carlson, 50 Carlson Road, Rochester.

Children Awaiting Parents was founded in 1972, and works to find forever families for children and youth waiting the longest in foster care.
